Comprehensive Early Support (Integrale Vroeghulp)

If you have concerns about the development or the behaviour of your child (0-6 years) in multiple areas, the Comprehensive Early Support team will be able to help.

As a family, you will be assisted by a dedicated support worker who will help you to resolve those concerns. You will work out your child's needs together. The support worker will consider the options and help you find appropriate help. This is free of charge.

Together, we will make sure that your child grows up to be as healthy and have as many opportunities as possible.

There are many professionals who can help young children. From healthcare to education. The Comprehensive Early Support teams pool all their knowledge and experience.

- A dedicated contact person will be assigned to you
- Multiple experts will provide your child with further assistance
- You decide what we do

You can find a support worker in our area through integralevroeghulp.nl. The experts are there to help you all. Comprehensive Early Support will prevent your concerns from escalating and help your child to move forward.

What happens after registration

A Comprehensive Early Support (CES) support worker from your area will call you to make an appointment for an introductory meeting. Depending on the waiting time in your area, it may be a while before we call. Your CES support worker will then come to see you at home. Appointments elsewhere are also possible. The support worker will discuss all your questions and concerns with you and then make a plan for the process. You will be given advice and help to arrange care or support.

One parent's experience of Comprehensive Early Support

'From when he was very young, we had a feeling that Sef was different. He was fidgety, unable to sit still and struggled to concentrate. Needless to say, we were worried. The Comprehensive Early Support team listened carefully to what we had to say, and arranged various tests. Our suspicions were confirmed.

We now know what is wrong with our son. It's not about having a label. We just want to offer him the best chances in life. Early support was very important in his case.'
